"Opposition" Convention in Franklin.
The scattering remains of the late American party in this county met at the court-house on yesterday. It was a tame, dejected, and poorly-attended meeting. Hon. Ben. Monroe was Chairman, and James R. Watson Secretary. A committee of five appointed by the Chair to draft resolutions retired, and after a few moments' delay, reported a string of resolutions in print, the same, we believe, presented by A. J. Morey to the late American Convention of Harrison county, and adopted by that body. A number of gentlemen were specially named as delegates, and while the Chairman was reading the list, a member of the meeting moved that all persons opposed to the Administration of Governor Buchanan should be invited to act as delegates to the Louisville Convention; which motion, with a slight amendment, was adopted, and then the meeting adjourned.

We noticed in the meeting that several members of it were unable to remember the proper name by which to style their proposed organization. Some called it the "Whig party"; but we observed that the Chairman was very particular in styling it the "Opposition," while the term "American" was altogether ignored. Opposition to a Democratic administration is the only idea or principle set forth in their resolutions, and Opposition is a platform on which Black Republicans and Know-Nothings can stand in full fellowship—"Opposition," therefore, is just as good a name for the purposes of this organization as any that could be devised, although it may not be so expressive as the one proposed by our contemporary, the Louisville Courier. We are glad to see the much-abused term, "American," restored to its proper place in our vocabulary, and no one doubts that the soi-disant Opposition will be taken by the people for Know-Nothingism in disguise, and meet the same ignominious fate that has overwhelmed Sam and his followers, not only in this State, but throughout the entire South.

We do not wish to be abusive of the "Opposition," nor do we intend to throw cold water on their incipient movements towards an organization. As an editor, we have this sort of kindly feeling for them. We like them as the hunter likes the fox. They afford too much sport to the press to allow us to desire their entire extermination. We have begun to think already that a very dull, dry, political campaign is before us, and we want some excitement to relieve the tedium and monotony of the long summer months. We hope they may succeed in getting up a Convention in Louisville on the 22d prox.—that they may succeed in promulgating a platform embodying their true political sentiments, and in finding a sufficient number of gentlemen to fill an Opposition State ticket who are willing to submit themselves to the sacrifice.

Unfortunately, great doubt exists as to their success in the last named undertaking. There are but two men that we know of in the whole State that have the requisite "pluck," and are wanting in that "discretion" which naturally deters others from so hazardous an experiment. We mean Rix-Rax and T. Lovely Jones, and we suggest them respectively for the nominations for Governor and Lieutenant Governor on the Opposition ticket. Their reputations are co-extensive with the State; while we doubt not others could be found not so well known, perhaps, but bearing a similar reputation in their several districts, who could be induced to accept the minor nominations.

Godey for February is received. This number fully sustains the promises made by the proprietor that it should be one of the most elegant Magazines in the Union during 1859. The engravings, fashion-plates, &c., cannot be surpassed.

[From the Bowling-Green Standard.]

W. T. Anthony.
ED. STANDARD.—Sir: It affords us a considerable amount of satisfaction to see at your mast-head the name of that consistent, unflinching, true and tried Democrat of Allen county, W. T. Anthony, as your choice to represent this District in the next State. We have known Mr. Anthony for "lo," these many years, and we have always found him to be as true as steel. He has been a Democrat in sunshine and foul weather. When Democracy was in the ascendant, W. T. Anthony could be relied on; when Democracy was in the minority, he never deserted the Old Ship, but has always stood firm. As the best evidence of his popularity where he is best known, we point to the poll books of Allen county, and we are proud to think that we will have an opportunity of voting for one to represent us who is as acceptable as Mr. Anthony. Old Edmonson will do her duty, and will roll up a handsome majority for W. T. Anthony. We presume he will have no opponent in the Democratic ranks. We say, hurrah for Anthony. Yours, truly,
EDMONSON.

Big Ready, Edmonson Co., Dec. 29, 1858.
Mr. Anthony served during the last two sessions of the Legislature as a member of the Lower House, and left an unexceptionable record. He was justly regarded as one of the most able, attentive, and faithful members of the House of Representatives, and should he be returned by the voice of the people to the upper branch of the Legislature, we are assured that he will acquit himself with equal credit. He is a safe man for the position, and we do not doubt his ability to carry the district, if he receives the nomination. We should be pleased to see him in Frankfort next winter.

Cheap Clothing.—Charles Getz, in order to make room for his spring stock, is closing out his assortment of gentlemen's clothing and furnishing goods at very reduced prices. Those in want of anything in his line will consult their interests by calling at the "Young America Clothing Store," opposite the Mansion House.

The Cincinnati Gazette announces the death in that city of G. W. Jones, better known as "Bank Jones," formerly the agent of the United States Bank, in his 78th year.

Harvey Walker, who has been in the Mercer county (Ky.) jail twelve months, for killing Thompson Sallee, has been admitted to bail in $5,000.

The attention of those afflicted with diseases of the throat and lungs is called to the advertisement of Dr. I. W. Ayer, in another column.

To Farmers.—Robt. Carmichael, Cincinnati, advertises some choice seed oats, spring wheat, &c. See advertisement.

Hon. Sherrard Clemens, of Virginia, has fully recovered from the wound he received in a duel with Mr. Wise.

The Next State Senator.—At the county meeting on the 13th inst., a committee was appointed to confer with the Democracy of Bracken, in reference to the election of a candidate for the State Senate, to represent the district composed of Harrison and Bracken counties. The last issue of the Maysville Express contains a letter from Thornton F. Marshall, Esq., of Bracken, in which he signifies his willingness to be the candidate, provided the nomination should be conferred upon him. The letter was in response to one which had appeared in the same paper inviting him to become a candidate.

Mr. Marshall is one of that noble band of old Whigs who refused to lend their aid and influence to the party which boasted of having "risen upon the ruins," and which, par excellence, was not to be held responsible for the "violated pledges" and "obnoxious acts" of the Whig party; but he holds the position with the National Constitutional Democracy, and has since been a faithful and consistent ally in our ranks. His talents and ability are of the highest order, and the district would be fortunate in being represented in the legislative councils by so accomplished a gentleman.

We believe it is generally conceded by the Democracy of this county that the candidate shall this time be taken from Bracken. If Gen. Desha had not positively declined any nomination, the party would delight to have followed in his lead to a glorious victory in the Senatorial contest. We know this to be the feeling of the party in Bracken, as well as here, but as we are not to have the privilege of elevating him to that place, we cheerfully acknowledge that the claims of Bracken are first.

We hoped that our friends in Bracken, and the committee appointed by the meeting, will soon make some arrangement regarding the selection of the candidate, or the appointment of a suitable time and place for a convention to nominate one. It is needless to say that if Mr. Marshall should receive the nomination, the Democracy of Harrison will yield him a generous and hearty support.—Kentucky Age.

Democratic Meeting in Harrison.
At a meeting of the Democracy of Harrison county, held at the court-house in Cynthiana, on Monday, January 10th, 1859, Joseph Shawhan, Esq., occupying the Chair, and Jo Desha acting as Secretary, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the Democracy of Harrison county hail with entire satisfaction the recommendation of Thornton F. Marshall, of Bracken county, as a candidate for the Senate at the ensuing August election, and that we earnestly request him to have his name announced at the county meeting for the ticket.

Resolved, That the Democracy of Harrison are unwilling that the Hon. James B. Clay shall retire from public service, and they do and shall insist that he shall be a candidate for re-election to the State, and that he be elected to himself, and satisfactorily to his constituents.

Resolved, That we most heartily and cordially ratify the nominations made by the Democratic State Convention, on the 8th inst., and we pledge for old Harrison increased majority for the ticket.

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be published in the Kentucky Age, and other Democratic papers be requested to copy.

A Chicago Young Lady Falls Heir to $45,000,000.—We hear that a young lady of this city, who has hitherto followed the humble vocation of a sewing girl, and whose name is Mary Schooley, received a letter yesterday from an uncle residing in N. Y., stating that herself, in connection with the writer of the letter, and an uncle, also residing in N. Y., had fallen equal heirs to the comfortable sum of $27,000,000, or about $135,000,000, by the recent death of an uncle at Calcutta, India, where he had accumulated his immense fortune in mercantile pursuits. This story is current in our city, but we will not at present vouch for its truth, though we hope to have it fully confirmed.—Press, 13th.

Apoplexy.—We regret to hear that our fellow-citizen, Virgil McKnight, Esq., President of the Bank of Kentucky, was stricken with apoplexy in the bank on Saturday. Last evening he was much improved, but not out of danger.—Louisville Courier.

A Card.
I wish to return my sincere thanks to the citizens of Frankfort generally, for their noble efforts to save my property from entire destruction by fire, on the morning of the 13th inst., and particularly to Stapleton Johnson, Thomas Hutchison, and others, for the great interest they manifested in trying to save my household furniture; also to the firemen for their exertions to prevent the fire from communicating to other buildings.

A. B. THOMASON.

[From the Louisville Courier.]

Hon. Beriah Magoffin.
The Eighth of January Convention, in nominating the Hon. Beriah Magoffin for Governor, gave to the Democracy of Kentucky an unexpected and unexpected opponent. The opponents of Magoffin in the convention were not against him upon any other grounds than those of personal preferences for others. Boyd, and Talbot, and Hise, and McCreery, and Bradley had their friends in the convention, but not one of those friends were politically opposed to Magoffin. They were all glad to see him nominated when the favor of each was out of the ring.

The convention which has put forward Magoffin was the largest ever held in Kentucky. The city of Frankfort never held so many delegates at one time. The public houses were all overflowed, and the streets a tide of men. Many had not where to lay their head for sleep, and found little to eat while awake. If Frankfort don't grow larger and hold more houses of entertainment by the time of the polling of the next convention, another place will have to be sought to accommodate the hosts of the Democracy.

As said before, the nomination of Magoffin will give universal satisfaction. He is a gentleman and a scholar. Fluent of speech, affable of manner, and popular of address, he will make a good impression wherever he goes. He made himself popular in the race of 1850, while representing the State for Lieutenant Governor, and he will become far more popular in 1859 while making the race for the first office. He will get all the Democratic votes, and many old-line Whigs, and may be, a few Know-Nothings.

Mr. Magoffin is now in the prime of life. He is a native of Mercer county, where he now resides. His grandfather, Samuel McLean, a pioneer of the Old Dominion, settled in this county in 1775. The name and the family are familiar to every Kentuckian, connected as they are with some thrilling incidents in our early history.

He was sent to Center College at an early age, and graduated at eighteen. While in college he was one of the only three Democrats there. Examining efforts were made to convert him to another faith than the Democratic, but without avail. He was a Democrat, he carried his Democracy through school and through college, and he expects to die a Democrat—not, however, until he has been Governor of Kentucky, and done many good things for his party beyond the office of Chief Executive of the State.

The political career of Mr. Magoffin began in 1840, when he was but a youth. He moved to the stump, and did what he could to quell the disturbances that had been created in the land by log cabins and hard cider. His speeches were the admiration of all who heard them in that campaign, and were considered first class States Rights efforts. In 1844, when Gen. Butler was a candidate for Governor, Mr. M. was appointed editor for the Fifth District, and although it was overwhelmingly Whig at the time, after one of the fiercest contests ever waged in Kentucky, (except that of 1855,) he carried the district by nearly 500 votes; and if the other districts had done as well, the gallant old General would have been elected by a handsome majority. In 1848 he was appointed assistant editor for the State at large, and carried nearly half of the State. In 1850 he was elected without opposition to the Senate of Kentucky, the duties of which station he discharged, as admitted by all parties, with distinguished ability. In 1855 he was the nominee of the Democratic party for Lieutenant Governor, and as such canvassed the entire State—only failing of an election in that bitter contest by 3,674 votes, the majority again Magoffin being much less than against him.

While he was in the Senate of Kentucky, he took an active part in the cause of popular education. He introduced the bill for the common school bill, under which our State education now progresses. The children who are now being educated under the provisions of that bill, and the parents of those children, will not forget Mr. Magoffin in August next. He will be voted for not only as a partisan, but as a patriot, devoted to the great cause of education. It is moral character without stain, and political without blemish, and take him all in all, he is the man for the time and place to which the proud Democracy have destined him. He will carry the State by at least twenty thousand, and there is no telling what majority he will get. The Democracy must make up a complimentary vote for him as a reward for his defeat in 1855; but there is no necessity for giving him more than forty thousand majority. He is entitled to twenty thousand as the strength of his party, and we think that an equal number as a compliment will suffice. We hope, therefore, that the Democracy will make up their minds not to elect him by more than forty thousand majority.

The State Convention
The Democratic Convention which assembled at Frankfort on the 8th of January, was the largest body of the kind ever convened in the State. Casey, Harlan, Knox, Perry, and Whitely counties were the only ones unrepresented. The large hall of the House of Representatives, in which the Convention assembled, was, during its session, literally crammed to overflowing, whilst the streets of the "city under the hill" were swarming with loyal specimens of untimely Democracy. The freemen of Kentucky had come from the blue grass regions and the mountains to spend one day at the Capital, and lend their voice and their patriotism in behalf of the party with whose success their own and their State's interest and prospects were so closely identified. The 8th of January was a fitting day for the assembly of the Democracy in State Convention. Memorial and sacred in the hearts of all patriots as the anniversary of the glorious achievements of "old Hickory," no better time could have been selected. The day too was bright and beautiful, auspicious of a brilliant and glorious future for the party. The sun shone forth in glorious splendor, giving new life and joy to the already gladdened hearts of the Democracy.

Notwithstanding the vast number in the Convention, the proceedings were characterized by the greatest harmony, and a ticket was nominated, to which every Democrat in the State can give a hearty support. The ticket will be found at the head of our paper, and speaks for itself. It is composed of gentlemen of intelligence, qualification, and unyielding Democracy, it will bring to the support of the whole party, and secure a victory such as has never been witnessed in Kentucky. The ticket will be elected by a majority of twenty thousand. This is no idle talk or silly prediction. What's left of Know-Nothingism will be scattered to the four winds of Heaven, and the ideas of August will witness the total extinction of the foot-prints of "Sam."

The full proceedings of the Convention will be found in another place. They will doubtless meet the approval of every Democrat in the State. The resolutions indorse the administration of James Buchanan, approve the decision of the Supreme Court in the Dred Scott case, declare in favor of the honorable acquisition of Cuba, and pledge an earnest and cordial support to the nominees of the Convention.

We repeat it, that the 8th of January, 1859, was a day that will long be remembered with pride and pleasure by the Democracy of the State, and its good effects will be felt for years to come. At present, vouch for its truth, though we hope to have it fully confirmed.—Press, 13th.

Cuba.—The adoption, by the late Democratic State Convention, of a resolution favorable to the acquisition of the island of Cuba, appears to be received with universal satisfaction. For years the public has been leaning more and more towards a project, and now the question is assuming a tangible form, people of all parties are beginning to express themselves openly, fearlessly, and unmistakably. The slow moving finger of destiny points unerringly to the acquisition of Cuba by the government of the United States. It is a fact as fixed as the stars, that the jewel of the Gulf will at no distant day, glisten with the light of the four winds of Heaven, and rises upon the independence of Cuba, will be the brightest that ever shone upon the island.—Cyn. Age.

Throat & Lung Institute
No. 30 West Fourth St., Cincinnati, O.
WONDERFUL SUCCESS IN THE CURE OF Throat Diseases, Catarrh, and LUNG COMPLAINTS,
By Means of Medicated Inhalation.

THIS Institute is held, thronged by persons who have suffered alike from various diseases, and the barbarities of the old school of practice. Dr. AYER has no occasion to speak of his eminent skill and long experience in this specialty. It is enough to say he is the founder of MEDICATED INHALATION, and never fails to cure or greatly benefit any case he undertakes. He refers to the following testimonials of the highest respectability and worth in this vicinity, as to what he has done for them.
Dr. AYER, (who, by the way, is a permanent resident of Cincinnati,) says: "It is my firm belief, that if the forty thousand who are destined to die of pulmonary disease in the Western States within the next twelve months be put on a system of inhalation, judiciously administered, thirty thousand of them would remain to comfort their friends for years to come. It is my opinion that thousands hastened to their graves by so-called 'remedies,' swallowed into the stomach.
The CERVICAL VAPOR is conveyed directly into all the air passages of the lungs where the disease is—not into the stomach, where it is not.
The earliest indication of Consumption is an irritation of the throat and bronchial tubes. Of the thousands that die annually of Consumption, there is not one instance to be produced where the disease commenced in the lungs. It is quite the opposite. The wasting and decay of the human body have their origin in the trachea, larynx, and oesophagus, before they descend to the lungs.
Bear in mind, these tried and new remedies are not patent medicines, and can only be obtained of Dr. AYER.
Dr. AYER effectually and permanently cures CATARRH, and furnishes a prompt and reliable remedy for the cure of this disease, which all can use for themselves, whenever they may be afflicted with Cough 'Cordis' is a sure remedy for the worst Cough. Who can be so rash, so prejudiced, so unjust to their friends, and negligent of their own lives, as to hesitate, as to hesitate, when timely application will restore to health and ward off hopeless illness and untimely death. Call in season while there is hope. Where it is impossible for parties to visit me and remain under my treatment, they may write as full a history of their case as possible, and I will send per express to any part of the country such medicines as are required.

UPON RECEIPT OF FIVE DOLLARS,
I will send a written opinion respecting any case submitted to me, and also a package of medicine, in which case the writer will receive as full a history and description of the case as possible. Address, Surgeon and Physician "Throat & Lung Institute," Cincinnati, Jan18 wlat-w1

Rheumatism Cured.
To the readers of the Yeoman: Preserve this notice. If not afflicted yourself, you may serve suffering humanity by sending it to some one who is.

Dr. Mortimore, by personal treatment, and the use of his remedy, by Physicians and Druggists, has cured probably twenty thousand cases of this painful and paralyzing disease—comprising cases of every seeming form, from those of a recent inflammatory (acute) character, to old chronic cases of ten, twenty, and even thirty years' standing. This disease is becoming more prevalent every year, and is seldom cured, or even alleviated, by the usual course of treatment. In its active form it often proves fatal, or if not soon arrested, becomes chronic—stiffens the joints, contracts the ligaments, muscles, and tendons, and thus renders the sufferer a cripple for life, or, if ever afterwards cured, even by the use of this remedy, requires longer treatment and greater expense. This is a vegetable internal remedy which cured the proprietor of it after long suffering, and all the usual remedies known had failed, and is safe to be used in any state of health—even by the most delicate female or child, and its success, in curing rheumatism, is attested by thousands, among whom are eminent physicians, ministers of various denominations, prominent journalists, and individuals of high standing throughout our country, such as should inspire confidence in every rational mind.

This evidence can be had on call at the office; or those at a distance, by addressing the proprietor, will receive, by mail, a circular of evidence. The remedy can be had at $5 per bottle, or five bottles for $20. Persons ordering at a distance can remit at the proprietor's risk by registering letter, and the medicine will be forwarded by express, or as directed, to any place in the United States or Europe.
